

ALL ABOUT PERENNIALS

Available starting in March with a selection evolving and changing throughout the growing season, perennials are herbaceous plants that return 3-years or more. Adaptable, winter hardy, and easily maintained once established, perennials are the perfect plant for gardens.

The promise of amazing color and long bloom cycles year after year are the treasured benefits that attract homeowners to perennial gardening. A single planting session can lead to years, even decades, of enjoyment. Perennials are also recognized for being particularly stunning when planted in mass.

Not sure what blooms when? Follow this gardening life hack: Anytime your garden is lacking in blooms, visit the garden center at White's and select from the perennials currently displayed in bloom on our tables. It's the best way to become visually oriented to the plants that come into flower as the months pass, and you'll soon curate a progressively flowering perennial garden for all seasons in Indiana!

At White's, a majority of our perennial vendors are family-owned and operated-allowing you the peace of mind to know you are supporting family owned and operated businesses.

If you don't find the perennial you are looking for, ask one of our friendly garden center heads if they can special order if for you. In season, our garden centers receive orders weekly from all our vendors making getting what you want easier than ever.
